

RADICAL CHANGE IN WAR IN EAST

Great Activity Is Expected In Eastern Hungary at an Early Date—Austro-German Conference On.

BRITISH AGAIN STRIKE BACK AT GERMANS BY AERIAL BOMBARDMENT OF BURGESS, IMPORTANT WAR BASE

Russians Continue Advance Toward The German Frontier—Serious Mutiny in Turkish Army—Germany Massing Troops at Labassee—More Aerial Assaults Expected.

By Associated Press.

London, Jan. 23.—A complete change in the eastern campaign, such as would mark a new period of the war, is expected by officers of the Russian General Staff.

They say that the Germans and Austrians have abandoned aggressive movement against Warsaw and are concentrating troops in Hungary to repel the Russian invaders in Bukovina, eastern Galicia and northern Hungary.

It is in this section, rather than on the Warsaw front, that the heavy fighting of the next few weeks is looked for in Petrograd.

London, Jan. 23.—Although the reports of a Zeppelin raid on England last night seem to have been false, there has been a striking renewal of aerial activity on the continent. The Germans have raided Dunkirk in force and British airmen launched an attack on Bruges.

The German raid on Dunkirk resulted in considerable loss of life and damage to property. One account says 10 aeroplanes took part in it. British aeroplanes assumed the defensive and succeeded in bringing down one of the visitors. This method of defense is regarded by English experts as more likely to prove effective than the anti-aircraft guns with which the defenses of Dunkirk are equipped.

It is believed here that the British raid on Bruges will be followed up by other attacks, as the Bruges docks are the head of the Zeebrugge canal system, which the Germans are using for the transportation of men, munitions and even heavy artillery. Air raids are not the only indication of renewed activity in the western arena of the war.

The Germans are massing troops in the neighborhood of Labassee, evidently in preparation for a new struggle, and the allies are further strengthening their forces in northern France and Flanders.

The tenseness of the situation between Greece and Turkey has been further relieved by the release by the Turks of a Greek officer, who, for some time past, has been imprisoned at Constantinople.

Russian sources send a report of the suppression of a serious mutiny in the Turkish army, accompanied by the execution of seventeen prominent Turkish officers.

The only new development on the Russian front is the advance from Lake Skempe, through the forests toward Lipno, which is an important junction of the roads from the Vistula region northward into East Prussia.

Conferences between Austrian and German leaders as to the future conduct of the war against Russia and Serbia are probably beginning today in Germany.

The case of the British merchant steamer Durward, sunk by a German submarine, continues to occupy British public attention and the feeling that it is the beginning of submarine activity against British commerce is reflected in the order sent to two British steamers not to sail from the Hook of Holland until further orders.

Paris, Jan. 23.—A semi-official note, issued last night, says that a number of German aviators attacked Dunkirk today, throwing 80 bombs. The victims number 20, 6 of whom are dead. A large warehouse was set afire by one of the bombs.

French and English aviators, who chased the German aeroplanes, brought down one on the Belgian frontier. Its two occupants were made prisoners.

Amsterdam, via London, Jan. 23.—A British airman today dropped bombs on the important Bruges, Belgium, docks, according to news which has reached here. The result of the attack is not yet known. The aviator escaped unhurt, although he was attacked by the Germans.

AIR TERROR SINKS IN SEA

London, Jan. 23.—Fishermen arriving at Noordwijk today assert according to a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Leyden, that they saw an airship founder in the North Sea on Friday night. The fishermen, the message adds, were unable to assist the aircraft.

The description of the vessel given by the men indicates that it was a Zeppelin.

Noordwijk is a watering place of the Netherlands, seven miles northwest of Leyden.

MUST PUT TO SEA OR INTERNE

Washington, Jan. 23.—The steamer Farn, a British collier brought in to San Juan, Porto Rico, as a German prize by a crew from the cruiser Karlsruhe, must put to sea or be interned during the war. The State Department holds she will be dealt with as a naval tender.

VESSELS WILL TEST RIGHT OF BRITISH INTERFERENCE

By Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Two steamers, flying the American flag, soon will be at sea, bound for Germany, and each sailing with the avowed purpose of testing the right of the British government to interfere, under certain conditions, with American shipping.

The Dacia, cotton-laden, from Galveston, waiting moderation of the weather to up-anchor, will determine the question of giving American registry to a German vessel and the voyage of the Wilhelmina, from New York last night for Hamburg with American foodstuffs, will decide, it is expected, whether Great Britain can stop American vessels from carrying to Germany American goods destined for consumption by the civilians, and not the military population of that country.

The Dacia, a German steamer, took American registry since the beginning of the war. The British government says it will stop her and test the case before a prize court.

Great Britain has said nothing as to her course in the case of the Wilhelmina. This steamer passed a British cruiser just outside New York harbor last night and was not molested. She may, of course, be held up when she reaches the other side and tries to enter a German port.

ANARCHY IN MEXICO CITY

By Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Anarchy, panic and disorder are said to reign in Mexico City by dispatches from Vera Cruz today to the Carranza agency here.

Rafael Zubaran, Carranza's minister of the interior, charges many women in the capital are near death from their treatment at the hands of Villa troops.

Eulalio Figuerra, one of the brothers of that name, is reported to have abandoned Villa and applied for admission to the Carranza ranks.

General Obregon denied Puebla has been attacked.

BOY BURGLARS MUST DO TIME AT LACASTER

Springfield, O., Jan. 23.—Arthur Lindsey and Clifford Dailey, youthful burglars of Washington C. H., who were charged with robbing three places in South Charleston a few days ago, were arraigned in juvenile court this morning, and upon entering pleas of guilty were given indeterminate sentences in the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster, and will be taken there at once.

The two youths were picked up following the burglarizing of two places of business and the D. T. & I. depot at South Charleston, just a few days after young Dailey had been given another chance to make good when he faced Mayor Coffey.

Dailey is the lad who admitted that he and young Lindsey were the ones who had secreted themselves in the Davis store in this city, with the intention of burglarizing the place.

PREMIER QUITS JOB

The count probably will be succeeded, the dispatch adds, by Dr. L. Von Bilinski, the Austro-Hungarian minister of finance.

"The News-Bee misrepresented the facts in the case, that was before the court," Judge Killits said.

32 DEPUTIES IN PRISON

New Brunswick, N. J., Jan. 23.—Thirty-two deputy sheriffs, employed by a private detective agency, spent the night in the county jail here and faced arraignment today on charges of murder.

EVICION CASES UP FOR TRIAL

By Associated Press.

Adena, O., Jan. 23.—The first eviction cases in the eastern Ohio coal fields were listed for trial here today, four striking miners of the Roby Somers Coal company having demanded jury trials when eviction notices were served.

Four similar cases are up for trial at Mt. Pleasant, near here, next week.

By Associated Press.

Columbus, O., Jan. 23.—A new high record for population in the Ohio penitentiary was established today when the total number of prisoners confined reached 1,723.

The increase in number received in the last few months is due to the operation of the indeterminate sentence law, according to members of the State Board of Administration and prison officials.

RUSSIANS ADVANCE IN GREAT FORCE

Southern East Prussia Threatened With Invasion.

THORN THE CZAR'S OBJECTIVE

Investment of German Fortress and a Strike Southward Would Place Von Hindenburg's Armies West of Warsaw in Serious Position—Petrograd Satisfied With Operations Near Ancient Polish Capital.

London, Jan. 23.—Russian troops are moving with such energy in north-west Poland that nothing but a decisive victory by the Germans in the Mlawa region or in front of Warsaw can prevent the invasion of southern East Prussia and the investment of Thorn. Official reports from the Russian general staff support other dispatches to the effect that the Russians are marching toward the German frontier on an unbroken front forty miles in extent.

The Russian right wing, with a base at Rybin, is within ten miles of the frontier. The left wing is thirty-five miles from German territory. The objective of the movement is the fortress of Thorn, the German base for operations in northern and central Poland. If Thorn is invested and the Russians strike southward, Marshal Von Hindenburg's armies west of Warsaw will be in a precarious position.

The German commander in north-west Poland, General Von Francois, sent detachments from the Mlawa region in an attempt to get behind the Russian lines and create a diversion. Large reinforcements are being sent to Francois' aid, and news from that area of fighting is awaited here with keen anxiety. It is officially stated in Petrograd that the Russian advance has driven the Germans from the town of Skempe, which is southeast of Thorn and twenty-five miles from the Prussian frontier.

A general battle is progressing from Mlawa southwestward. The Germans are resisting desperately, but have been driven steadily from lines of trenches. Great forces of infantry and artillery have crossed the Skwa river in spite of the obstinate resistance of the Germans, and behind a heavy screen of cavalry are advancing rapidly down the lower Vistula valley through the region near Rybin.

As regards the situation in front of Warsaw, it is stated in Petrograd that operations are highly satisfactory from the Russian standpoint. The Russians were able to mount many new heavy guns along the Bzura and Rawa rivers and were able to drive the Germans from many trenches which they had held for several weeks.

RUMORED AIR RAID DISTURBS LONDON

London, Jan. 23.—A rumor that Zeppelins were hovering over the Norfolk coast once more sped through London and tightened the nerves of the timorous. The report came from Cromer, one of the towns on the Norfolk coast which was visited by Zeppelins last Tuesday night. The rumor was baseless, however, but this was not ascertained until more than two hours after the alarm flashed.

GERMANS HALT FRENCH ADVANCE

London, Jan. 23.—The Germans have halted the French advance assigned to cut communications with the important fortress of Metz, in Lorraine, and isolate the German forces in the St. Mihiel region. The official statement from Berlin says that the French lost heavily in an attack near Pont-a-Mousson and were repulsed. The French statement acknowledges that the Germans have retaken part of their trenches.

In the east, along the old front from the lower Vistula to Galicia and in the Carpathians, the two armies remain in about the same positions as they were two months ago, all efforts by the Germans to break down the Russian resistance seemingly having failed and the Russian attempt to drive the Austro-German forces back to Cracow having met a similar fate.

AIRMEN DROP BOMBS IN DUNKIRK

Paris, Jan. 23.—A note appending to the latest official communique says: "A group of German aeroplanes attacked Dunkirk and nearby coast villages. They dropped about eighty bombs. There are twenty known victims of the raid, of whom seven are dead. One warehouse full of merchandise was burned. French and English aeroplanes pursued the enemy and brought down one of the hostile machines. The pilot and the observer were made prisoners."

BALD JACK ROSE CALLED TO THE STAND

Tells How Sullivan Came Into the Becker Case.

New York, Jan. 23.—With the same deliberation that characterized his confession at the trial of Lieutenant Becker, Bald Jack Rose took the stand before Special Commissioner James D. Phelan as a witness for James Mark Sullivan, minister to Santo Domingo.

When Rose was a fight promoter in Waterbury, Conn., Sullivan, now the minister, was his press agent, according to testimony in the Becker case. That connection with Rose and the fact that he appeared as the friend and attorney of Rose in the Rosenthal murder case have been urged against Sullivan's fitness for a diplomatic post.

At the hearing, however, Rose denied that Sullivan was his press agent. Rose and Sullivan, according to witness, once owned a baseball club.

"I would like to tell," witness went on, "how Sullivan came into the Becker case. When he became my attorney, Sullivan got threats, promises, pleas; everything possible to sway him from his purpose was brought to bear upon him. Perhaps some of this investigation is an aftermath of that."

Rose said he had sent for Sullivan because he was in no position to pay a lawyer and he felt that Sullivan would come. "Sullivan said first," Rose stated, "Now, Jack, tell me just one thing; are you guilty?" I said "no." He said, "that is all I want to know. I'll take your word, Jack." The following day he told witness he must be a witness for the state, and Sullivan got immunity for him. "In some quarters," witness added, "he was ostracized. Perhaps this is a remnant of that."

So far as the investigation into the alleged conspiracy to exploit Santo Domingo is concerned, the most important witness was Francis J. R. Mitchell, president of the National Bank of Santo Domingo, known as the Banco Nacional. Mr. Mitchell in several instances contradicted the testimony of Walter Whiting Vick, at whose instance the investigation was started.

THE STEAMER DACIA SAILS

Galveston, Tex., Jan. 23.—The former Hamburg-American liner Dacia, which was transferred to American registry last month at Port Arthur and which loaded 11,600 bales of cotton at Galveston for Bremen, sailed this morning for Rotterdam via Norfolk. That the cargo of this steamer is intended for transshipment to Bremen is admitted on the official manifest filed at the federal custom house. Four British cruisers are said to be waiting in the gulf for the Dacia, but Captain George McDonald says that they will have a long run before they catch him. He intends to stay within easy distance of the three mile safety zone as far as Norfolk. At Norfolk he will enter on the broad expanse of the Atlantic and expects to reach the other side safely.

SLEUTHS HELD FOR SHOOTING

Roosevelt, N. J., Jan. 23.—Twenty-seven employees of the O'Brien detective agency, who have been acting as deputy sheriffs of Middlesex county to do strike duty at the fertilizer plants, were arrested here on charges of murder arising out of the deaths of two strikers, shot down with eighteen of their fellows near the Williams & Clark plant at Carterton, last Sunday. All were taken in autos to the county seat at New Brunswick, where they were locked up in the county jail without bail.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Would Extend Terms of Office. Columbus, Jan. 23.—Various Republican forces having agreed that all state officers should serve for four instead of two years, a movement is under way to present this proposal to the Ohio voters next fall. The proposal is based on the theory that two years is too short to permit an official to carry out a definite policy. The resolution would not extend the terms of any officials now serving, but would become effective at the end of their terms.

Operators to Import Men. Bellaire, O., Jan. 23.—The coal operators of eastern Ohio have completed arrangements for importing 6,000 men to work in the mines on the open shop basis, according to information learned here. It is said the contract has been signed by a number of operators with a large employment agency, which agrees to furnish 6,000 men, who will work a period of at least one year under the terms offered by the operators.

Willis Not to Be Stamped. Columbus, Jan. 23.—Governor Willis let it be known that he is not to be stamped into appointing any one of the 1,500 or more office-seekers by the appearance of a large delegation from the "home town" urging and demanding that a man be taken care of. The governor stated that no appointments will be made so long as office-seekers consume all his time.

Shot Girl and Detective. Toledo, Jan. 23.—Peter Skribner, thirty-two, of New York, confessed to the police that he shot Pavlina Misun, twenty-six, three times because she refused to marry him, and that he also shot and instantly killed Kaiser Bartel, a city detective, when he attempted to arrest him. Surgeons say Miss Misun will live.

Big Opportunity For City Council

In the matter of street improvement work the City Council made an excellent start at the meeting last Monday night.

The hope now of the progressive people of Washington is that all branches of the city government, especially the legislative branch—council—will not be content as has so often been the case before, with a good start. What the city needs now is the completion, property, of the work as proposed now so auspiciously.

Push the street improvement work right along until Washington takes her proper place again with the progressive, up-to-date cities and towns of Ohio.

We can no longer "get along" with the old-time streets in the thickly populated residence districts nor in the business sections of the city, without falling still farther behind the wide-awake communities moving forward in street improvement work.

What is true of the street improvement work is also true of street lighting. Washington is entitled to the best street lighting system that can be installed and paid for out of the public treasury.

The City Council should go into the work of providing a proper lighting system for the streets carefully and methodically. Not only the plan but the cost, both of installing the street lights and maintaining them after they are once placed in position should be carefully considered.

The fact that the contract for lighting the streets is to expire within a short time should aid rather than hinder Council in the work of securing the best lighting system at the least cost to the taxpayers.

Council should not proceed with any hostile feeling toward the light company, neither should it start possessing the delusion that the city is under any obligation to adopt any plan and any terms the light company suggests.

There are no more important subjects with which City Councils must deal than the two relating to street paving and street lighting, and both of these questions are now pressing the local Council for solution.

The time, in view of all the circumstances, is opportune and the present Council has abundant opportunity to make a record, right now, in the matter of paving and lighting the streets.

Every citizen of Washington is anxiously awaiting the result of Council's deliberations on the street light problem and the finish of the good start made toward paving the streets.

The Zeppelin Raids.

The cruise of the German fleet of Zeppelins over a portion of England has, of course, terrorized many of the inhabitants of Great Britain, and, to that extent, it has been a success.

The visits of these aerial fleets, dropping explosives broadcast down upon peaceful communities of non-combatants, is an illustration of just how barbarous the European war is and just how far civilization is being turned back by the conflict now raging across the sea.

Until the outbreak of the present war, civilization had made such progress that even in warfare there was some trace of human impulse discernable. The old savage warfare methods had been tempered, at least to the extent of sparing the women and children and non-combatants from the awful butchery of war.

In the days of savagery, all were massacred alike by the victorious armies. Man, as he progressed in civilization protected the helpless from the horrors of war and armies confined their work of killing to those who were armed and like themselves engaged in war.

Germany in these Zeppelin attacks has returned to the days of savage massacre and has violated all the rules of civilized warfare, and there is such a thing too.

The argument in favor of these attacks from the air is that it will serve to bring to the people at home a realization of the horrors of war, compel a respect for the power of the foe and create a sentiment in favor of peace at any price.

That argument is not new. It is the same old argument which satisfied the savage when all were ruthlessly butchered, no matter whether they were armed men or defenseless women and children.

Germany will experience great difficulty in convincing humanity when this awful struggle is over and done with, that a twentieth century war justified the adoption of such methods. The Zeppeline air crafts have been marvelously perfected by the German people and their adoption to practical use should ensure to the benefit of the German arms. They are great war machines and could be made a powerful fighting auxiliary.

The work of the Zeppelins could be directed against armed camps, training quarters and the like and attacks in those quarters would prove equally as forceful in creating peace sentiment—vastly more so—than do the attacks on the helpless non-combatants.

The Zeppelin raids are perhaps all right in war, but certainly not in the way the Germans are now conducting them.

Poetry For Today

PUBLIC ENEMIES.

If you build a line of railway over hills and barren lands,

Giving lucrative employment to about a million hands;

If you cause a score of cities by your right-of-way to rise,

Where there formerly was nothing but some rattlesnakes and flies;

If when bringing kale to others you acquire a little kale,

Then you've surely robbed the people and you ought to be in jail.

If by planning and by toiling you have won some wealth and fame,

It will make no odds how squarely you have played your little game;

Your success is proof sufficient that you are a public foe—

You're a soulless malefactor; to the dump you ought to go.

It's a crime for you to prosper where so many others fail;

You have surely robbed the people and you ought to be in jail.

Be a chronic politician, deal in superheated air;

Roast the banks and money barons, there is always safety there;

But to sound the note of business is a crime so mean and base

That a fellow guilty of it ought to go and hide his face.

Change the builders' song triumphant for the politician's wail,

Or we'll think you've robbed the people and we'll pack you off to jail.

LATER DISPATCH CONFIRMS REPORT

London, Jan. 23.—The British steamer Durward, said to have been loaded with forty tons of provisions belonging to the American relief committee, has been sunk at sea by the German submarine U-19. The crew was saved.

Roumania holds the honor for the earliest production of crude petroleum, having put it on the market in 1857. Two years later the United States produced its first petroleum, 2,000 gallons. Italy was a producer the following year, and Canada, within twelve months, entered the field. Russia quickly followed, and for years these countries were the sole producers. Russia is now second only to this country.

HEROES OF MEDICINE.

Many an Obscure Physician Has Died For Humanity's Sake.

The physicians who have met death from diphtheria, from smallpox, from tuberculosis in the heroic discharge of duties so common as to seem trivial, cannot be computed. Time has failed to keep a record of the noble dead. A roster of their honored names is out of our power. Obscure heroes who have fallen in the strife for humanity fill our churchyards, where they sleep in unacknowledged graves.

St. Paul boasted he was a citizen of no mean city. We may boast in the same spirit that we belong to no mean profession, to no ignoble calling, and while ungrateful beneficiaries may accuse us of practicing medicine for money, we may be sure that alike in city and in country, alike among the homes of wealth and the hovels of destitution, there exists a great body of men who by unselfishness, by fortitude, by kindness and charity, sustain amply the traditions and fulfill worthily the scope of our noble calling.

To those men what is a money fee? It is not time and study and care alone that they offer to the afflicted. It is their own strength, their sleep, their very lives that they lavish upon them, and what is a fee in exchange? Do men sell their blood for gold?—"Recreation of a Physician," by A. Stuart M. Chisholm. M. D.

DIAMONDS IN SUGAR.

We Know They Are There, Because Science Has Extracted Them.

Although at first thought the statement seems incredible, it is perfectly true that a lump of sugar may be converted into diamonds.

Not all the substance of the sugar of course will enter into the composition of the diamond, but only the carbon that it contains. Sugar consists of carbon united with oxygen and hydrogen.

It is an easy matter to separate out the carbon, and in certain experiments for the production of diamonds this sugar carbon has been employed.

The diamonds so produced were of course very small and destitute of commercial value, but still they were real diamonds, and the chemical result achieved would be no greater intrinsically if they were as big as the Cullinan.

Scientists have often expressed the hope that an improvement in the process of manufacturing diamonds may be effected whereby the necessity of dissolving the carbon in molten iron may be dispensed with, and the required combination of great pressure with great heat may be brought about by some such operations as squeezing the carbon between red-hot metal plates.—New York World.

Got In Her Answer.

"Maria," said Mr. Jollyboy very solemnly, thinking to take a rise out of the wife of his bosom, "I heard of a dreadful operation which was undergone by a girl. She seemed in danger of losing her sight, and the clever ophthalmic surgeon who operated on her found—"

"Yes!" breathlessly interposed Mrs. Jollyboy. "Found what?"

"That the poor girl had a young man in her eye!" rejoined hubby, with a chuckle.

Silence reigned supreme for the space of five minutes, at the end of which time Mrs. Jollyboy said quietly:

"Well, of course, it would all depend on what kind of young man it was, as there are many men she would have been able to see through." And, with a serene smile, Mrs. J. resumed her knitting.—London Express

First Carrier Pigeons.

The sport of pigeon flying dates back 100 years, although the Egyptians trained pigeons to serve as messengers 4,000 odd years ago, and their example was followed by the Assyrians, the Chinese, the Greeks and the Romans. The first pigeon race was organized in Belgium in 1818, and two years later a bird was flown from Paris to Verviers, where its arrival was hailed by a procession with brass bands. In England the first pigeon race was held in 1875 from Newcastle-on-Tyne to Bexhill. The sport caught on rapidly, especially in Lancashire and Yorkshire, and such long distance flights as from Manchester to San Sebastian (700 miles) have been achieved.—London Standard.

LOCAL ORGANIZATION MADE TO AID STARVING BELGIANS

Hon. C. A. Reid Heads Organization Which Seeks Car Load of Provisions From Fayette County—No Money to Leave County, and Depot For Reception of Provisions Will be on West Court—Ross County Ships Car Load.

The work of obtaining a carload of provisions from Fayette county to aid the starving Belgians has been launched and is headed by Hon. C. A. Reid, chairman of the local organization, which is to work in conjunction with the Ohio State Board of Commerce.

The organization was formed at a meeting Friday night, when Field Secretary of the Board, Mr. L. C. Leake, of Columbus, was present and took an active part in arousing the interest here. Complete organization in Fayette county is as follows:

Chairman, Hon. C. A. Reid; treas., M. S. Daugherty; secretary, Rell G. Allen; executive committee, Henry Brownell, Frank M. Fullerton, C. E. Lloyd, A. F. Hopkins, D. S. Craig, Geo. Jackson, F. L. Stutson, Jess W. Smith, Wm. Worthington, Wm. Jefferson, Bloomingburg; Capt. W. C. Bostwick, Mt. Sterling; Louis Perrill and W. W. Williams, Jeffersonville; W. E. Smith, Milledgeville; Elmer Rowe, Albert Haines, E. E. Cockerill, Wm. Thos. Steers, southern Fayette; J. G. Andrews, Marion township.

Mrs. F. G. Carpenter is vice president of the organization.

Mt. Sterling is included with Fayette county, and donations for the car will be received in the Allen room on West Court street, where Mr. Allen has placed Harry Hyer in charge of the work.

All provisions must be in the hands of the organization by February 1st, as the vessel carrying the provisions direct to the sufferers leaves New York February 15th.

Ross county ships her carload of supplies first of the coming week, and Pickaway county will ship a carload early next month.

No money contributed will leave Fayette county, but will be expended for actual food stuffs or clothing necessities, and the articles shipped.

Only imperishable food can be handled; for example, wheat or flour, corn or yellow corn meal, granulated sugar, dried peas, beans, coffee, canned goods, cured or salted meats, dried fruit—only food that will stand ocean transportation.

New clothing only can be accepted because of quarantine rules.

All transportation charges will be paid on supplies from the GIVER in Ohio to the RECIPIENT abroad.

The West Court street depot will be ready to receive supplies Monday morning, and the work has been systematized so that there is every indication that not a single article will go astray.

Following is an excerpt from an article written by Cora Harris, who was a recent visitor in stricken Belgium:

"I have seen not one or two but literally thousands of them (Belgian women) who were famished for water and starving for bread. I have seen children less than two years of age who had been without food for four days, young babes in their mothers' arms whose breasts had been dried by the awful horrors through which they had passed. I have seen women accustomed to every comfort staggering into a strange land without shoes on their feet and without a centime in their pockets."

The lecturer gave graphic portrayal of this phase of oriental life and was listened to with absorbed interest by a large number.

Throughout her week's stay Mrs. Shepardson delivered a series of lectures that were gems of literary style as well as replete with interesting information gleaned from her personal experiences in foreign tours.

Large audiences greeted Mrs. Shepardson each night and some nights the First Baptist church was not adequate to the crowd.

Mrs. Shepardson left Saturday for Greenfield, to deliver a lecture at the Baptist church of that city Sunday night. On Monday she goes to Cincinnati for two weeks of lecturing.

The revival services at Grace church, Friday night, drew a good sized audience, regardless of the exceedingly bad weather.

An interesting preliminary service was held, followed by a sermon full of appeal to the unsaved and was an inspiration to the personal workers.

There will be no services tonight, but beginning tomorrow the services will be continued. Next week the intention is to shorten the services so that the audience will not be held as long as some nights during the present week.

QUARANTINE MAY BE LIFTED SOON

Hon. Frank C. Parrett during a conversation with a Herald reporter, stated that in a recent discussion of the federal quarantine with Dr. Marion Imes, who has charge of the work in Ohio, he was informed by Dr. Imes that unless a fresh outbreak of the foot and mouth disease occurs in this county that in all probability the quarantine would be lifted some time in February probably the latter part of that month.

Representative Parrett is, in addition to being chairman of the Taxation committee and member of other important committees, a member of the Agricultural committee, and is kept busy looking after matters coming under the various committee's jurisdiction. He will return to Columbus Monday morning. Mr. Parrett bears the distinction of holding more important committee positions than any other man of his age in the legislature.

NOISELESS NORWAY.

A Country of Quiet Voices, Gentle Manners and Placidity.

The population of Norway is nearly 2,500,000, but if the entire population met in a given area I venture to say that their coming and their going and their meeting would not make as much noise as one may hear every five minutes on dozens of street crossings either in New York or in Chicago.

Norway is the country of quiet voices, gentle manners and no noise. The steamers dock almost without a sound and depart as silently. At Christiansand, where we touched first on Scandinavian soil, people got on and off the steamer, farewells were waved, the crowd on the dock moved about deliberately, but no voice was raised, there was no shouting, no physical unrest expressing itself in squirming bodies or twisted features; they were almost as calm as the stars above them.

All over Sweden and Norway one is attracted by the smooth skins, unwrinkled cheeks and unfurrowed brows of both the men and the women. They have placid faces, as of men and women who have not yet been in contact with our disease of striving to live all of life in a day. The trains slide away from the stations at the sound of a scarcely audible whistle, and there are no bells or shouted warnings; the crowds in the streets or elsewhere seem to pitch their voices out of the range of hearing of ears accustomed to the catarrhal rumble of London, the strident gabble of New York or the sibilant cackle of Paris.—The Late Price Collier in Scribner's.

The Curse of Mexico.

Xochitl, the beautiful Indian maiden of 900 years ago, is responsible for the Mexican national drink, pulque, pronounced poolkay. She was the first to drink the sweet liquid from the maguey plant, cousin of the aloe, that blooms once in 100 years. The drink in its fresh state is quite harmless, but the modern Mexicans have debased it by fermentation, and it has now become the curse of Mexico. It appears to have much the same effect as some other national drinks, for it softens the brain, ruins the digestion and paralyzes the nerves. So disastrous a hold has pulque upon the poorer classes that employers of labor avoid workers from the maguey fields if they can get labor elsewhere.

RARE OPERATION SAVES LIFE OF GIRL WHO WAS STARVING

Unusual Case at Hodson Hospital in Which Exceedingly Difficult Operation Saves Life of Young Woman, Attracts Much Attention—A Second Serious Case—Hospital Completes Fourth Year With Splendid Record.

One of the most remarkable cases coming to light in this part of Ohio recently, in which a patient went down to the very brink of the grave and was brought safely back by a rare and exceedingly difficult operation, is now attracting quite a great deal of attention at the Hodson hospital, where Miss Sarah Whaley, aged 18 years, is recovering from a Gastroenterostomy operation.

The operation in question, performed by Dr. G. S. Hodson, is said to be the first of its kind in the city, and consisted of removing the stomach, through a four-inch incision, making an incision in the walls of the stomach, an incision of similar proportions in the jejunum, or intestine below the stomach, and uniting the two so that a new opening or outlet to the stomach was formed, which will permit the food to leave the stomach almost as usual.

For four months Miss Whaley, who has been employed at the County Children's Home, suffered from an unknown ailment, and was slowly starving to death because very little food could leave the stomach. Her condition became so serious that death from starvation was imminent and she was taken to the hospital where, after a careful study of the case, an operation was planned and carried out by Dr. Hodson, who found that an ulcer, which had healed, had drawn the pyloric opening of the stomach tight together, and for weeks no food had passed the stomach. Owing to her extremely weakened condition it was necessary to use oxygen to aid the fluttering heart, but now, after two weeks, the girl is believed to be entirely out of danger, and has an appetite equal to that of the average person.

In performing the operation it was necessary to exercise the utmost skill in uniting the two incisions, as a false stitch meant death of the patient by gangrene. The number of gastro-enterostomy operations, carried out successfully, are few indeed, and rarely executed outside of the big city hospitals.

Another Unusual Case.

Another unusual case is that of Mrs. Isaac Miller, of near Bloomingburg, who was in an even more critical condition than Miss Whaley when taken to the Hodson hospital a short time ago. Mrs. Miller underwent a dangerous operation at the hands of Dr. Hodson, and within the few days' time has made a wonderful gain in strength and will be removed from the hospital in a very short time.

Fourth Year Ended.

In connection with the accompanying cases it is of interest to know that the Hodson hospital completed its fourth year this week, and in that time Dr. Hodson, who has taken at least a dozen post-graduate courses, has performed more than 300 operations, and the mortality has been just four, and these were "borderland" cases. The several hundred operations have been of widespread variety.

Mrs. Ralph Trovillo, of Roxabel, spent Friday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Vincent.

Miss Erceel Stitt, of Bloomingburg, was the guest of her brother, Dr. H. L. Stitt, and family, the past two days.

Mr. Warren Hicks spent the past two days in Cincinnati on business.

Mr. W. W. Westerfield, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Peddicord and his brother-in-law, Mr. Jess Millikan for the past two weeks, left Friday night for his home in New Orleans, La.

Miss Ruth Stimson, of Lafayette, Ind., who has been visiting her aunts, Mrs. Frank L. Stutson, and Miss Bertha S. Miller, left Friday for Cleveland to visit relatives.

Mr. W. E. Early, formerly connected with the Dice-Mark Company, of this city, now with the Post Bros. Buggy Co., of Columbus, was a business visitor here today.

Mr. Chas. Carleton has been called from Springfield by the illness of his sister, Miss Marie Carleton, of Temple street.

Mr. Wilbert Smith, of Saginaw, Mich., is visiting his mother, Mrs. Belle Smith. Mr. Smith has as his guest, Mr. Frank Kain also of Saginaw.

Dr. G. C. Emmons has returned from a week's visit with relatives in Michigan.

Mr. Wesley Sheridan and family have moved from near Mt. Sterling to the farm recently purchased near New Martinsburg.

In Social Circles

Mrs. Lewis H. Parrett, of the Prairie pike, delightfully entertained the twenty girls of her Sunday school class at Paint Chapel, Friday evening.

The hospitable Parrett home presented a cherry contrast to the stormy winter night and the evening with its appetizing luncheon, proved a thorough success.

Miss Aileen Parrett assisted in the hospitalities.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Daugherty entertained at six o'clock dinner Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. H. Ballard, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ireland and Miss Myrtle McCoy.

A recent issue of the Los Angeles Times contains an excellent picture of Miss Charlotte Dahl with the following interesting sketch of the Dahl girls' interests since they have been residents of Pasadena:

Three notable additions to what has been not inaptly christened the out-of-doors society of Southern California have joined the athletic colony of the Beverly Hills Hotel in the persons of the Misses Charlotte, Nina and Mary Dahl, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Bereman Dahl of Washington C. H., Ohio.

It is no disloyalty to Ohio, that has brought these pretty graduates of National Park Seminary and the Colonial School of Washington, D. C., to Los Angeles. Rather is it the difficulty of playing tennis in a foot and a half of snow, or golfing in the teeth of a Middle-Western blizzard or of motoring through mid-winter mire.

All three of the Misses Dahl are enthusiastic athletes and sportswomen and, as such, the unusual facilities offered by the foothill hostelry for indulgence in that direction have a peculiar appeal to them. They are established there with their parents for an indefinite stay and with more than a possibility that they may become permanent residents of a place where one can play handball on an outdoor court in mid-January without a coat.

It is expected that Miss Charlotte and Miss Nina Dahl will make their debut into society in this city shortly. The youngest, Miss Mary, is now attending Huntington Hall.

CANTON WANTS IMPERIAL STAFF TO CONFER WORK

Stark county Odd Fellows have been negotiating for some time with the Imperial Degree staff of the local lodge, I. O. O. F., to have it go to Canton and confer the first degree.

Friday night the management received a communication asking that the date be set for February 17.

The entire degree staff will meet tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. for rehearsal and to decide matters pertaining to the proposed trip.

This degree staff now has a national reputation and Washington citizens take a just pride in the organization which has put Washington C. H. on the map.

A high official and prominent man in fraternalism, gave it as his honest opinion that the degree staff is the greatest of its kind in the United States.

A complete detailed description of the degree work will be read to the staff tomorrow and the changes carefully rehearsed.

C. H. & D. WILL CUT OFF IRONTON

After March 1 the C. H. & D. railroad will discontinue train operation beyond Dean, Ohio. This will cut off Ironton as the terminal of the local division of the railroad.

This action has been brought about by the refusal of the receivers of the C. H. & D. railroad to meet with the demands of the D. T. & I. officials, who own the right of way from Dean into Ironton. This stretch of track has been leased by the C. H. & D. railroad and the difficulty arose over a suit for rental brought by the owners. What provision will be made for handling passenger traffic and the hauling of mail has not been determined.

ONCE A MIGHTY CITY.

Ypres, in Belgium, Was Famous When Berlin Was a Hamlet.

The little Belgian town of Ypres, in Belgium, in the heyday of its greatness and prosperity ranked as large in the civilized world as Philadelphia, Chicago, Berlin and other big cities do today. Indeed, it was a splendid city when Berlin was a mere hamlet of half civilized Slavs.

It was in the days of the commercial greatness of Venice that Ypres attained the summit of its prosperity. It was an important distributing center for the traffic which came up through the Adriatic by boat, was carried overland and then scattered from Belgium to England, France, Holland, Germany and other countries. It also had great manufactures, and in the fourteenth century its population exceeded 200,000, making it one of the largest cities in Europe. Ghent and Bruges, its near neighbors, were no less prosperous. With the changing of the trade routes of Europe the wealth and population of Ypres disappeared until it has now less than 20,000 people.

When one reads of the rise and decline of these communities which flourished long before America was discovered it is interesting to speculate whether the same fate will overtake our own cities. Who can tell? To us their foundation seems substantial, but doubtless the worthy burghers of Ypres thought the same of their beloved city 600 years ago.—Philadelphia Record.

Barley Water.

Barley water is a safe and cooling drink and is nutritious as well. Put into a pitcher one large tablespoonful of well washed pearl barley, pour over it two quarts of boiling water, cover and let stand until cold. Drain off the liquid, add one-half cupful of sugar and a little nutmeg. If liked the juice of a lemon is a pleasant addition.

Keep a Firm Hand on the Tiller.

The sails of boats are our emotions; the rudders are our characters. Our sails are breathed upon by gentle zephyrs of affection and inclination, of hope and love and of hate. They are torn by sudden gusts of passion. We are blown hither and yon by conflict of quarrelling winds, driven from our course by angry squalls. The only force by means of which we can counteract the effect of the winds and hold our course is the rudder of character.

We know that we shall be blown upon all our lives by various influences, good and bad; that our emotions—those white sails that respond to every breeze—will be played upon by every human appeal and desire. What will become of the craft that has not a firm hand on the tiller?—Youth's Companion.

Try to do your duty and you at once know what is in you.—Goethe.

GIVE INTERESTING TESTIMONY

Detroit Manufacturer Says He Would Substitute Justice For Charity.
While Perkins Blames the Tariff
Act For Business Depression—Gompers
Defends Unionism and Denounces Rockefeller Foundation.

New York, Jan. 23.—Henry Ford described for the United States committee on industrial relations the things that have made his company famous for its welfare work. For the most part he talked of things that have been done, but his remarkable statement was varied by glimpses into the future.

Mr. Ford summed up the story of his life in about a hundred words: A farmer's boy, machinist's apprentice, manager of Edison's Detroit plant, reduction of the hours of labor there without decrease of output, automobile business, welfare work, profit-sharing, success. When he was asked to tell about the financial condition of his company he said: "There are eight of us who own all of the stock. The capitalization of the company is $2,000,000. During this last year we did between $80,000,000 and $90,000,000 of business. The profits were $25,000,000."

Asked whether he considered that private philanthropies could deal adequately or effectively with social conditions, Mr. Ford replied:

"They may probably do some good. Of course, they are not adequate. But my idea is justice, not charity. I have very little use for charities or philanthropies as such. My idea is, aid men to help themselves. Nearly all are willing to work for adequate reward. We have all kinds of cripples in our employ and they are making good. We have a great many who have been in prison and who are outcasts from society. Every one of them is making a good showing and is gaining self-respect and strength of character. We will guarantee to take every man out of Sing Sing and make a man of him." The other witnesses were George W. Perkins, who assailed the present tariff law, and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Mr. Gompers defended unionism and assailed the Rockefeller foundation, saying that the method by which its teachers had got themselves in order to frank the literature of the foundation throughout the country was a fraud and subordination of the principles of government.

Mr. Perkins was questioned as to what he regarded as the weak spots in organized labor. He replied: "Tyranny and disregard of the rights of others, just as those are also the weak spots in big business. But I believe that there has been a change in the attitude of business during the last five years."

"Mr. Perkins," said Mrs. Harriman, "do you think that without our present tariff law general conditions would have been the same because of the European war?" "I think," said Mr. Perkins, "that if there had been no European war and we had the present tariff law conditions would have been worse than they are, and that if the tariff law is not changed the industrial depression will continue."

SHIP PURCHASE BILL ASSAILED

Washington, Jan. 23.—Senator Cummins, Progressive Republican, in a speech on the ship purchase bill, aimed at possible private control of the proposed shipping corporation by a group of New York bankers. In this connection, without making any direct charges, he cited Kuhn, Loeb & Co. as an example of such a group which might conceivably gain control through ownership of 49 per cent of the stock. He further said he regarded the ship purchase bill "as one of the most reactionary and dangerous proposals ever made public."

Senator Lodge followed Senator Cummins. He said the ship purchase bill involves international questions of the gravest character and fraught with the most serious possibilities.

Mr. Lodge quoted from house committee hearings to show that Secretary McAdoo had "practically admitted that the purpose of the bill was to buy the German ships" laid up in Boston and New York. If such were not the purpose, Senator Lodge suggested that the impression now general could be corrected by an amendment, which, he said, he believed had already been voted down in committee, to debar the government from such purchases.

"To buy the German ships interned in these ports, and relieve their owners from the heavy daily expense in caring for them, and to hand over to them thirty or forty millions of money belonging to the American people," said Senator Lodge, "would be a great and direct assistance to one of the belligerents in the war now raging. It would be an unneutral act, and very readily might be construed as a hostile act and an actual breach of neutrality."

Senator Lodge stated he had been informed that the administration had determined to send the Dacia, a German owned ship purchased by Americans and transferred to American registry, abroad to furnish a test case.

"It seems to me a rather dangerous business to make test cases of this character in time of war, when belligerent governments are protesting against the action, and for the state department to approve sending forth a vessel which, as late as Jan. 13, our war risk bureau declined to insure."

In view of the present empty cargo space going to South America, Senator Lodge said the United States could not desire the ships for that traffic, but only for the European trade. In carrying on European trade he urged the enemies of Germany would still regard the ships as Germans and liable to be sunk.

PUBLIC HEARING ON IMMIGRATION BILL IS HELD

President Hears Labor Leaders,
Socialists and Others.

Washington, Jan. 23.—President Wilson held a public hearing on the immigration bill providing a literacy test. Forty persons delivered speeches for and against the measure.

Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, made the chief argument for the literacy test, while W. Bourke Cockran, former member of congress from New York, and Charles E. Russell, spokesman for the Socialist party, were conspicuous proponents of an executive veto. Mr. Wilson expressed himself as disapproving the literacy test.

Mr. Morrison charged that big corporations in this country want two men for every available job, so that they may reap the benefits of the competition, although it is necessary that one remain without employment.

Mr. Cockran declared that the enactment of the test was inspired by the same distrust of humanity which has brought on the European war. Mr. Russell asserted that the chief reason why the Socialist party protests against the literacy test is that it will destroy the right of political asylum, which has been the pride of this country for generations.

GOVERNOR WILLIS MAKES CHANGES

Columbus, Jan. 23.—Governor Willis announced the appointment of Homer M. Edwards of Ironton as executive clerk, to succeed Ralph Dodds of Bellefontaine, who becomes correspondence clerk. Colonel Miletus Garner, who has been helping with the work in the office as an extra clerk, is given the permanent position of commission clerk, succeeding Russell C. Niles. Mr. Niles will go back, under civil service, to one of the state departments.

These changes came about as a result of a recent ruling of the attorney general that all positions in the executive office are outside the classified list of civil service, thereby giving the governor the privilege of appointing all his employees instead of only two, as are allowed other departments.

THREE RESCUED FROM THE RUINS

AN EYE TO BUSINESS.

Mme. Strauss Saw a Chance For Profit
That Her Husband Missed.

A little story told by Les Annales shows that Mme. Strauss, the wife of Richard Strauss, the composer, is a woman with a keen business sense. It is perhaps she who has made her husband's reputation as the shrewdest dealer among musicians.

One day a young musician called on Strauss and asked permission to play for him a parody on the famous composer's "Salome." Strauss granted the request. When the young man had finished Strauss was enthusiastic in his approval. "Very droll, very droll!" he cried. "It will be a success, a great success! I congratulate you."

As the young musician was on the point of leaving Mme. Strauss entered, and her husband at once began an enthusiastic explanation. "This young gentleman," he cried, "has just composed a parody on 'Salome,' a truly remarkable piece of work."

Mme. Strauss raised her eyebrows. "What terms have you made?" she asked in a low voice.

"Why, no terms."

"That is no way to do. Demand 25 per cent royalties."

And, turning to the writer of the parody, Mme. Strauss advised him, with seemingly maternal solicitude, to accept the advantageous offer that the master was willing to make him. Thus it came about that the parody on "Salome," which, as M. Strauss prophesied, was very successful, proved a source of considerable income for the Strausses.

MODERN FACTORY METHODS.

An Illustration of the Efficiency of Scientific Management.

Writing in the American Magazine on the development of the modern factory under the new principles of scientific management, Miss Ida M. Tarbell describes the importance of keeping tools and materials in order in the workshop and tells the following story:

"The promptness and sureness with which a part can be located under this system I once saw illustrated in an interesting way at the Watertown arsenal. Lieutenant Colonel Wheeler, the commanding officer, told me to select a piece in any one of the gun carriages under construction and we would take the number of it to the office and ask the clerk to tell us where that particular piece was."

"In five minutes after we had given him the number he had located the piece. I think it is not an exaggeration to say that if under the old system such a question had been asked of anybody in the Watertown arsenal it would have taken days for them to have answered it, if indeed they ever could have done so."

"As there are fifty different kinds and grades of material and 4,000 different pieces used in a disappearing gun carriage, the advantage of being able to put your hand promptly on material and pieces as well as knowing every night whether you have in stock the quantities of each necessary to carry on work does not need arguing. The gain to workmen and to management obviously is enormous."

Exploding Ice Bubbles.

The intensely cold nights of Siberia, says a writer, produce a curious phenomenon. Occasionally the silence is broken by a loud report resembling the boom of a cannon. The noise is caused by the bursting of an ice bubble on a river. The streams coming from the hills are incased in ice six to nine inches thick, and as the water descends faster than it escapes through the river the result is a heavy hydrostatic pressure. This first causes the ice upon the river to rise in mounds often six to eight feet high. For a time they seem to yield elastically to the pressure, but finally can with stand no more and burst with an explosive report. The water rushes out, soon freezing, however, and causing further explosions. The writer asserts that he has seen scores of these ice hillocks within a few miles.

Smallest Bird.

The golden crested wren is the smallest, not only of British, but of all European birds. Its average weight is only about eighty grains troy, so that it would take seventy-two of the birds to weigh a pound. The length of the feathers is about three and a half inches and the stretch of the wings about five inches, but when the feathers are taken off the length of the body does not exceed an inch.

LAWS OF THE INCAS.

A Code That Was Remarkable For Its Beneficent Simplicity.

Among the most remarkable laws of the Incas were those concerning taxation. The principal feature of those laws was that taxes were not paid in money, but in work and in produce, whether manufactured or grown. The Inca emperors thought it unjust to demand that taxes should be paid in any kind of commodity that the people could not produce by their own personal labor.

The people also paid another sort of tribute. They made clothes, shoes and arms for the soldiers and for the poor who could not work themselves owing to age or infirmity. The cloth was made of wool from the flocks of llamas that abounded in the mountains. On the plains of the seacoast, where the climate is warm and they do not dress in woollens, the people made cotton cloths, the cotton being supplied from the crops of the emperor. The shoes were made in the provinces where aloes were most abundant, for they were made of the leaves of a tree called magney. Each province furnished its own produce, and no province had to supply anything that did not belong to it.

There was a mandate that forbade beggary and destitution; that, of course, followed upon due provision of their laws. Every citizen was provided for theoretically and practically. No man need be idle; no man need lack land or seed or implements for cultivation; therefore no one was permitted to beg. If any were found doing so it was clear proof of idleness, for the incapable were provided for, and contempt and punishment were meted out on all tramps, vagabonds and idlers.—"The Secret of the Pacific."

Bowser's Trousers

The Creases Run Off on a Tangent.

By M. QUAD.

Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

No fireside could have been more peaceful and happy than that of the Bowsers at 7 o'clock the other evening. Mrs. Bowser had a book in her hands, Mr. Bowser the evening paper and the family cat laid on the hearth rug and purred and chuckled and decided that she had a soft snap for the winter. Without, cold winds blew and snowflakes fell; within were warmth and cheer and contentment. By and by Mr. Bowser felt the influence, and he looked up from his paper and said: "Well, now, this is home! What reasonable man could ask for more than this?"

"Yes; it is cozy," answered Mrs. Bowser.

"How a man can leave a fireside like this to hang out at a club is more than I can make out. If all men had homes like this there would be nothing but happiness in married life. Why can't all wives be like you?"

Mrs. Bowser took the alarm at once. Every wife knows that her husband is dangerous when too good. She started to say something about a neighbor's child being sick, but he interrupted her with:

"Yes; I suppose so, but it is probably owing to the mother's carelessness. I was thinking today that I was not half thankful enough for the blessings that surround me. Do you know that? I hadn't married just the right sort of wife I might have turned out a bad, bad man?"

"I am glad and satisfied that you are happy," she replied. "But don't you think it dreadful the way some of the coal cart men use their poor horses? One was going past here today when—" "I know nothing about coal cart horses," he chimed in. "But I do know that I have the nicest little wife in all the world. Where would I be tonight but for you and this scene of comfort and happiness? Put away your book and let's talk. I presume you think there are times when I don't fully appreciate you, but even when I get mad and storm around I never lose sight of your many good qualities. And, too, you know I am always sorry for giving way to my temper. It is very good of you to overlook my feelings."

Mrs. Bowser was in for it, and there was no escape. She couldn't faint away, and she could think of no excuse to get out of the house. She therefore smiled and replied:

"We get along as well as most folks. What is the news from Europe?"

"Yes, you are always willing to overlook my faults," he continued as he reached out his foot and toyed with the cat, "and I want you to know that I appreciate it to the fullest extent. Didn't you say something about a new dress the other day?"

"If I did I can wait for another month or two."

"There is no need of waiting a day. In the morning I will give you $50 for a new dress. As you may need other things I think I'll make it $75. Never be afraid to ask me for money. I've been thinking we ought to go out more. What is to prevent us from going to the theater twice a week this winter?"

"I should like to go at least once a week."

"It shall be twice or three times, and we'll get up card parties for the other evenings. Would you like to keep a second girl?"

"Oh, no. You see, there is so little to do, and the cook has lots of time to help upstairs."

"If you want one, just say so. I don't want you to think you are tied to the house. And how about new carpets and furniture?"

"We don't need any."

"Thanks to you, and I appreciate it. By George, but when I remember how many rows I have raised over nothing at all I wonder that you haven't been driven to get a divorce. I expect there are plenty of women who would have turned on me with the poker. Can you ever forgive me?"

Mrs. Bowser was determined to change the subject and avert the calamity, and a bright thought came to her.

"You took a pair of trousers to the tailor the other evening to be pressed," she said as she rose up.

"Yes; and has he sent them home?"

"They came up this afternoon and are in that bundle over there. I wonder if there are any buttons missing."

The package was untied, and Mr. Bowser held them up to view. He had taken them to the tailor to have the creases renewed, and the tailor seemed to have made an excellent job of it. Mr. Bowser was about to lay them aside with a nod of satisfaction when he gave a sudden start of surprise, and the smile his face had worn during the last half hour was replaced by a look of sternness.

"What is it?" she asked.

He took one leg of the trousers and stretched it out at arm's length and squinted along the crease like a man looking along the edge of a board.

"You took this package in?" he asked as he finished squinting along the leg.

"Yes."

"And you knew they were my trousers?"

"Of course. What is wrong with them?"

"What is wrong with them?" he repeated as his neck began to grow red.

"If you were the sort of a wife you ought to be you'd know what was wrong with them. You'd have known it hours ago and brought that tailor to book instead of assisting him in his chicanery."

"But what is it?"

"Can't your own eyes tell you? Look along these creases. Do you follow a straight line or do they wobble and crook?"

"They seem to be straight," replied Mrs. Bowser after squinting.

"But they are not, and I believe you have known it for hours. See there!"

BRAWNY NORWEGIANS.

They Are the Longest Lived People in the World Today.

The fine stature and unique physical qualities of the athletic Norwegians are thus described by Price Collier in an article on "Norway and the Norwegians," from an American Point of View, in Scribner's Magazine:

"The so called bonder, or agricultural peasantry, form the very backbone of the nation in Norway. Each is proprietor of his own farm, and they occupy the country from the shore of the sea to the foot of the hills and up every glen or valley as far as corn will grow. They are, as a rule, fine looking, athletic men, as their properties are not so large as to exempt them from work, but large enough to supply them and their families with wholesome food. In the old days they built their own houses, made their own furniture, plows, carts, harness, ironwork, wood work and basketwork. Probably there are no communities anywhere else in the world so self efficient, so independent and so comfortable."

"Indeed, their size and wholesome aspect prove this, for they are the fairest, tallest, broadest chested and longest lived people in the world today."

"In the streets of the towns, at the farms, on the roads, one seldom sees a fat man or one who looks unweildy. They are sturdy, sometimes heavily built, but they are lean in the back, broad of shoulder and thick through the arms, and though they do not always carry themselves lightly or gracefully, they look to have plenty of room for the working machinery of living, for heart and lungs and digestive apparatus. Wherever you go in Norway, from Christiansand to the North cape, you cannot go far without going up and down hill, nor can you go far without inhaling the champagne like mountain air. It is not impossible that the plain food—a necessity in a poor country—the physical training in the schools, the obligatory military training, the sensible temperance legislation, the up and down hill exercise, the almost entire lack of luxury and the fact that they are not hard workers—not lazy, perhaps, but certainly leisurely in their toll, seldom making any undue demand upon their nervous energy—have produced what no artificial legislation can copy."

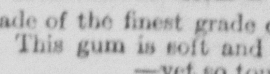

No Longer Company.

"Familiarity breeds contempt." "True! When I was first invited over to their house to dinner they used to let the dishes go until morning; now they do them right after dinner and call me into the kitchen to help."—Detroit Free Press.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

MEN WHO OWE FINE MUST PAY

The man who has escaped a possible workhouse sentence by promising Mayor Coffey to pay fines imposed if "given a little time," and have promptly forgotten their obligations when released, must now pay up or else go to the workhouse on the old fines.

This decree was announced by Mayor Coffey Saturday morning when he flatly refused to take a promise to pay for the cold, hard cash.

"This business of escaping payment of fines by making promises has got to cease, and the men who owe fines they have promised to pay must either come in and pay or I will send after them," said Mayor Coffey.

Continuing the Mayor said: "Not only the man who owes has got to pay, but hereafter when a fine is assessed, the man must either put down the cash or security that means something. I am tired of taking promises which the fellow promptly forgets to pay."

Beginning next week the work of collecting a number of old fines which the fellows who escaped the workhouse by promising to pay, still owe, will be taken up in real earnest, and if such men do not appear at headquarters and settle, an officer will be sent after them, and the workhouse may receive a few who have forgotten their promises.

SPRINGFIELDERS SLIP ONE OVER

High School Meets Defeat at the Hands of the Home Citizens—Senior Girls Wrest Honors From Juniors and Establish Themselves as School Champions—Big Crowd Sees Double Header at High School Gym.

Two exciting games of basketball were enjoyed Friday evening by a large complement of rooters at the High school gym, in which the local High five lost to a sturdy aggregation from Springfield and the Senior girls became the school champions of the girls' teams by defeating the Juniors.

The scores: Springfield, 31; Washington, 16. Senior girls, 17; Junior girls, 9.

Washington faced serious handicaps, being outweighed several pounds to the man and crippled by the absence from the game of Hays, star forward, and Ramsey, one of High's fastest guards. The local boys put up a stiff resistance, however, despite the odds, but when Johnson, in the latter part of the first half, had his right impaired by a Springfield elbow, things went from bad to worse, until the finish.

The Springfielders were led by Coach C. P. Shively, former athletic director of the local high school.

The girls' game was fast and furious, the work of Forward—Jean Fitzgerald, of the Seniors, and Forward Martha Teters, of the Juniors, being the features.

The game decided the school championship for the Seniors.

The Seniors recently defeated the Sophomores and as the Juniors had proved themselves victors over the Freshmen, the school laurels were at stake. The game was probably the last of the class series to be played this year.

The next game of the boys will probably be played next Friday away from home, although it is not definitely arranged. It is believed that the game will be secured either with Chillicothe or Xenia High.

Forwards, Gregg and Lloyd; center, Johnson, and guards, Craig and Burnett, represented Washington Friday evening. Mobley, referee. The lineups of the girls' teams follow:

Seniors—Jean Fitzgerald and Bessie Casey, forwards; Mary Alice Cullen and Mary Ellen Sharp, 1st & 2nd centers; Doris McFadden and Carrie Willis, guards.

Juniors—Helen Persinger and Martha Teters, forwards; Mary Ramsey and Emily Palmer, 1st & 2nd centers; Ruth Brownell and Nell Stuckey, guards.

Referee—Schlabach.
